The Notre Dame Children's Class (NDCC) are giving a gift to children many of us might overlook ... a bed of one's own.

The NDCC's families and students helped raise $2,500 in the past several months to purchase 12 child-sized bed frames for the Massachusetts Coalition for the Homeless in Lynn.

The coalition is currently running their 250 Beds for 205 Children by Christmas campaign, which will provide beds to financially struggling families who are transitioning from life in shelters and hotels to life in their own home.

In addition to purchasing the frames, students also painted the top of each frame with individual artwork.
